

I met Sarah a year ago when she came in to show me her portfolio.

As Creative Director of the world's first and foremost non-traditional advertising agencies, I have seen 100's of books, portfolios and CV's. It's rare to come across work of Sarah's calibre.

Needless to say we employed her at our New York offices where she quickly became an integral and valuable member of the team.

She worked on projects from the initial client briefing, through the creative process to presenting her ideas in a professional, visually arresting manner. In her 3 months, Sarah worked on a wide range of live, retained business such as NBC, Diageo and Toyota.

Her thinking is always surprising, on-brief and inspiring. She's a rare breed; technically proficient, artistic, reliable, a strong team player, a self-starter, insightful and kinda hot in fishnets.

I would have no hesitation in highly recommending Sarah.
